

Ho-Chunk Community Capital, Inc. (HCC) was certified by the U.S. Department of the Treasury as a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI) in August of 2016.

ABOUT Community Development Financial Institutions (CDFIs)

- CDFIs invest in local communities and residents who live there by providing critically needed financing often unavailable from mainstream financial institutions
- All CDFIs share a common mission of serving low-income communities.
- Certified CDFIs are part of a national network promoting economic growth in America's underserved communities by financing businesses, creating jobs, and rebuilding neighborhoods.
- Using creative and innovative financial products, Ho-Chunk Community Capital, Inc. is able to provide loans and financial services to communities where resources are scarce.
- As a CDFI, Ho-Chunk Community Capital, Inc. puts the community first and values local, economic growth.